"Program for Inclusive Education" presented by Dr. Christie Bonfiglio

Dr. Christie Bonfiglio is faculty for the University of Notre Dame. She directs the Office of Professional Standards and Graduate Studies for the Alliance for Catholic Education and launched the Program for Inclusive Education in 2016. Bonfiglio teaches across multiple programs related to her work in inclusive education and provides professional development in this area to schools and dioceses across the country. Prior to her work at the University of Notre Dame, Bonfiglio was the director of the Education Department at Goshen College following her work in public schools as a school psychologist. Bonfiglio's areas of expertise include behavior and academic interventions through a Multi-Tiered System of Support. She is also well-versed in collaboration and child study teams. Bonfiglio served a variety of students and programming across the academic and behavioral spectrum ranging from gifted to struggling to those eligible for special education. She is grateful to be using her knowledge and skills to serve Catholic schools in the pursuit of inclusive education.
