

“Angels Among Us: A Product of Inclusive Catholic School Success” presented by Mary Warm

My name is Mary Warm. I am 27 years old and I have Down syndrome. I live in Kansas City, Missouri. I am a young lady who lives independently. The best part about living independently is to start living my own life. One thing, I do is to take the bus to different places, like to my school and work. I go school at Penn Valley Community College. This is where I am taking classes for my associate degree for early childhood. I have a part time job as an assistant pre-kindergarten teacher. I teach and play with children, assist the teachers, and work at the front desk. I do things on my own, but I am not alone. My family helps me out. My family teaches me things and give great advice. When I am not taking classes and working, I do things I like to do for fun. I like to sing and dance, drawing and taking pictures, explore my neighborhood, travel, exercising, and cooking. My goal is to have a full-time job as an assistant prekindergarten teacher. My dream is already beginning, and I am happy person!
